THE HAZEN COURT-MARTIAL.

Its Findings Still in the Rands of Secretary Endlectt. The recent trial of General Hazon, Chief Bignal Officer, attracted very general atten tion, not only on account of the high rank of the officers of the court, but the high official station of the accused. In view of the rank of the officers composing the court, with Major-General Hancock apresident, and the rank of the accused, it can be called the highest military court can be called the highest military court ever assembled in Washington.

The only court-martial equaling it in rark and dignity ever convened in this country to try an officer accused, as General Hazen was, of disrespect to his superior, was that of General David Twigrs, which assembled in Nashville in 1857. He also was charged with critizising the then Secretary of War in terms of disrespect through the newspapers. General Twiggs was convicted, but soutened only to be reprimanded, although he had publicly accused the Secretary of War of illegal and corrept practices in office. The Secretary at that time was John B. Floyd of Virginia. The findings of the Hazen court were handed to Secretary Endicett about two weeks ago, on the eve of his departure for Boston. He locked them up until his return, a few days since, but final action by him is looked for every day. What it will be is of course unknown, although a reprimand is expected by many.

The trial whatever the vardict may be hids

mand is expected by many.

The trial, whatever the verdict may be, bids far to reopen the whole question of responsibility for the disaster to the Greely party, as well as lead to an effort to improve by legislation our present system of court-martial procedure. General Hazon and his friends procedure. General Hazon and his friends will make a determined effort as soon as Corgress meets next December to have a joint Congressional committee investigate the whole Arctic matter.

THE POLICE COURT.

The first case called for trial this morning was that of Robert Balley, a colored youth. He was charged with stealing a pair of horse-clippers from Dodson Kelly, a horse lockey at the Ivy City track. The property was found in his possession. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

John Mannel, a hungry-looking colored man, was in the toils for stealing a head of cabbage from Lusby's greery store, near the Navy-Yard Bridge. He pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to two weeks in jail.

Emanuel White was before the court for making a deadly assault on Andrew Reed, another young colored man. The latter's injuries were of such a serious character as injuries were of such a serious character as to prevent his appearance at court. Officer Hahn stated that the men had a quarrel about a woman Saturday night, and decided to go and fight it out. On the way to the alley where they were to fight, the defendant struck Reed on the head with a brick. The court was informed that there was some question as to whether or not Reed's skull was fractured. The case went over until Saturday.

MARKET OPENS STRONG & DROPS.

A Sharp Selling of P. M. and Lake Shore Causes a Break in Prices, Which, About Midday, Recover.

The feeling in New York on stock and grain continues bullish. The main cause of Saturday's advance was the foreign war news and the advance in grain. The Gar-rett brokers were buying Western Union Saturday and took most of the stock sold, pattriny and took most of the sack as for the purpose, it is supposed, of covering aborts. The estraints of Omaha for the first week of April decreased $27,100. Those of Illinois Central increased $12,000. The nat has undergone an alteration which removes it still further from the exaggerated bell-crown of a season or two ago. Naturally, as the season for desarding the overcoat and thus reducing the proportions of the figure arrives, the brim is required also, and is lighter and fister than that of the winter hat. The crown is higher and straighter in a marked degree. In fact, it will take only a wilght change to cause the bell to wantsh entirely, and the literal "stovepipe" of years ago to take its place.

Vests are made to roll lower, according to the character of the cost they are worn with and close with five and six buttons. The points at the bottom are cut away slightly.

calls them much out of doors.

The new spring patterns are of a sombre cast as a rule. Except for trousers with a black cont and waistont, stripes have been retired and checks have taken their place. Nothing loud is permitted. The checks are small and in many cases "proken," as it is termed, which means that the distinct crossbar of the check is substued so as to hardly show at a little distance. Hierk and white checks and neutral tints are the favorite colors.

ors, Trousers are out larger in the leg, the fashionable size now being eighteen inch knee and seventeen and one-half inches at the bottom, with a slight spring over the foot. The seams are made up plain, and pockets in front are leaing caste with tasty dressers. Two watch-pockets of liberal size are in the waist seem in front, while two hip or pistol-pockets are all that are allowed in fashionable pantaloons.

The evening dress waistcoat is now usually white, cut with a heart-shaped opening. The attempt to introduce fine disgonal cloth for evening wear in place of the traditional broad-cloth has not proved a success, and tailor saying that he makes only one suit in twenty of that material.
